IMPRISONED MEN SAFELY RESCUED

62 Miners Reached after Hours of Hard Digging.

CAUGHT BY CAVE-IN IN SHAFT

Entombed Men Come Out into Sunshine to Greet Their Wives and Families—None of Them Injured.

Sutter Creek, Cal., Feb. 9.—The sixty-two miners entombed in the Bunker Hill mine by a cave-in in the mouth of the shaft were rescued at noon after a night of hard work by miners from nearby mines.

None of the men was injured. They were greeted by their wives and daughters as they came out of the shaft with their candles still burning.

The men had been caught by a cave-in at the mouth of the incline shaft and a force of 140 men worked like beavers all night and part of the day to remove the debris.

One of the men called through the air pipe that they had climbed to the tunnel and the operations were changed to effect a rescue from this point.

The shaft was jammed about 100 feet from the mouth. A loaded skip had broken loose and shot down the incline, tearing away the collar timbers. No food was sent down to the imprisoned men for fear of choking the air pipe.

OROZCO REFUSES OFFICE

Will Not Become Governor of State of Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9.—Pasqual Orozco refused the governorship of Chihuahua after the state legislature had selected him, but he protests his loyalty to Madero and is said to have declined the governorship partially because the state legislature declined to endorse Madero, also because he believed the constitutional governor, Abram Gonzales, should first be given a chance to restore order or at least have some say in the matter.

Gonzales, who has wired that he was coming to Juarez by way of Eagle Pass and would then go to Chihuahua from Juarez, decided to go on a hand car to Chihuahua to consult with Orozco and the state legislature.

HORSE DIVES INTO STORE

Causes Panic Among Patrons in Flint —Knocks Down Woman.

Flint, Mich., Feb. 9.—A horse driven by Fred Vosberg ran away when the cutter was overturned in the car track. Breaking loose from the cutter the horse ran south on North Saginaw street and dashed through the plate glass in the door of Seiner's dry goods store. People in the store were thrown into a panic and scrambled in all directions to escape the wildly plunging animal which came to a stop at the rear of the store where Patrolman Parrish caught him.

Mrs. Lizzie Smith was knocked down by the horse at the entrance to the store and severely injured. The horse was badly cut in its mad flight.

A GAS FACT OR TWO AS PRESENTED BY THE COMMISSION

When Prof. White of Ann Arbor lectured on the manufacture of gas at Cleary Hall, January 25th, the Daily Press took exception to some of his statements. Through the courtesy of Prof. J. Stuart Lathers of the Normal College, who has devoted much time of late to the collection of reliable data, the following article is presented, which shows a fact or two that supports the attitude of the Press. Another similar report will follow tomorrow.

Ypsilanti Daily Press:

There was one portion of Professor White's otherwise excellent address on the gas question which I believe contained misleading implications. I refer to that part which dealt with the cost and capitalization of plants and the profits in the business. It is perhaps unfortunate that Professor White attempted to deal with this phase of the question at all for, as I understand, he does not claim to have special knowledge except in the technical part where he was very clear, interesting and instructive.

In dealing with the financial phase of the question, however, he left the impression with his audience that in Madison, Wis., with gas selling at $1.09 per thousand feet net the return in the investment was only 7½% while in Racine with gas selling at $1.20 the return was only about 6% on the money invested. Through the courtesy of Professor White and Professor Peet I have had opportunity to examine the reports to which Professor White refers. The commission there states that the Madison company bought the electric and gas plants in 1896. They invested $400,000 for which they issued bonds at 6%. They also issued $400,000 in stock for which no money was paid.

Since then $227,000 six per cent bonds have been issued to make extensions to the plant. Thus the entire plant has cost the company $627,000. Whatever else has gone into the plant has come out of profits. The commission estimates that the present cost of reproducing the plant new would be $1,080,071. After making deductions for depreciation they place the present value at $917,902. If we take the actual investment, $627,000, from the present value we find a gain in the value of the plant of nearly $300,000. This gain goes to the stockholders who paid in no money for their stock for it must be remembered that all the money was paid in by the bondholders.

During fifteen years then the plant has paid 6% interest on the entire investment of $627,000, has paid dividends on $400,000 of stock all of which was water, and has accumulated a surplus of $300,000 in increased value of the plant.

One wonders why the people of Madison should be willing to pay dividends on $400,000 of stock for which no money was ever paid and why they should be willing to pay 6% on the bonds when they can borrow money for probably 4% and why they should make a present of $300,000 in surplus profits to these stockholders who never paid a cent for their stock.

Probably the opponents of municipal ownership would say that they could do this because of the greater efficiency of men who are working for the private company. Is there such a great difference as this between the work of the men employed on the Ypsilanti Water Works and those who work for the Ypsilanti Gas Company?

In dealing with the Madison plant it must be remembered that when the price of coal is considered the Madison plant is selling gas at as low a price as Ypsilanti and still is making these immense profits. I have dealt with the electric and gas plants together because the commission does not separate the expenditures in all cases.

Prof. Strong Is Very Grateful

(Communication)

Editor, Daily Press—Will you kindly give me an opportunity to report through the columns of your paper that the local gas company has completed a gift which they have had in hand for some time, of importing and presenting to the Physical department of the Normal College a standard Junker Calorimeter, with Regulator, Wet Meter, and all accessories, for ascertaining the heat value of any liquid or gaseous fuel.

This act has been entirely in accordance with their policy ever since I came here 27 years ago, of assisting us in the endeavor to get, by the best standards, the heat and light value of our city gas and other fuels and illuminants, which is a regular part of our work in Physics. I regret that I did not keep the voluminous records made in our classes during the past 25 years as they would have shown something of the history of gas making in a small town, and also made it appear that Ypsilanti has always held an honorable record, for towns of its size, both in respect to price and quality of our illuminating gas.

At first city gas was used almost solely for light, so that the illuminating power was the great question and the gas company gave facilities for and showed interest in that work. We have gradually built up a standard photometer for this purpose, including a Brodhun-Lumner and other sight-boxes and standard units, as the Methven, the Hefner, and other units. More recently the company loaned us a valuable open-faced, quick reading photometer, to use with our small model of a Junker Calorimeter. And now they have completed this series of helps in our work by this gift of a standard Junker Calorimeter complete in every respect. We are now able to make a complete physical examination of liquid and gaseous illuminants and fuels in respect to specific gravity, purity, and light and heat value, with an accuracy not possible to us before. The donation is one of great importance in our work.

PRESS DIDN'T REPORT ENOUGH OF HIS SPEECH

J. H. Hopkins feels that the report of his speech at the meeting of the Men's club in the Congregational church Wednesday evening was not complete enough and so, to help him make his position plain in the public eye the following communication is published at his request:

Ypsilanti Daily Press:

Gentlemen—I wish to take exception to the write-up you gave me in your report of the recent discussion on the gas question at the Congregational church. When I seconded Prof. Strong's remark that politics would have its influence, and cited a case of corruption in high places my argument was along the line of comparison of the efficient service we have and low cost of gas with that of other cities.

I tried to show that as a city we have no grievance against our gas company. That no city in the United States is more favored than we, all things considered. I am placed by your article as a believer in the corruption of our city officials advancing that idea that graft is the ruling motive of these men. This is the only inference to be drawn from your remarks so far as my part in the debate was concerned, since my main argument was eliminated.

Yours truly,
J. H. HOPKINS.

PEACH BUDS ARE KILLED

Committee Finds Crop Ruined—Apples and Cherries Little Hurt.

Eaton Rapids, Mich., Feb. 9.—The committee appointed by the local fruit growers' association to examine the orchards in this section of the state, finds, after an investigation of two weeks, during which many orchards in Eaton, Ingham, Jackson, Clinton and Barry counties have been visited, that the peach buds have been almost completely destroyed by the extreme cold weather. Plums, and all varieties of small fruits have shared practically the same fate.

The apple orchards visited showed that only small damage has been done to buds of most varieties, but some of the less hardy ones have suffered to a considerable extent. The large peach orchard here owned by T. A. Farrand, president of the State Horticultural society, will be a total failure this year so far as producing any fruit is concerned. Cherry buds have stood the cold well and but few of them have been found killed by the frost up to this time.

Those who may not have heard Dr. Ramsdell are cordially invited to be present at these closing services of the series.

CHARGES HINES TRIED TO BRIBE

Woman Telegrapher in Washington Makes Accusation.

SAYS HE ASKED FOR MESSAGE

Examination of Witnesses Is Hastened, as Committee Wishes to End Hearings as Soon as Possible to Do So.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Helen Seevers, telegraph operator at a local hotel, swore before the Senator Lorimer committee that about two weeks ago Edward Hines offered her money if she would let him see a message Detective Bailey had just sent to H. E. Kerr of Detroit.

"He said he would 'put something in my paw' if I would let him see the message," she said. "He came back and I saw the money in his hand. I told him I would not be bribed to do wrong," said Miss Seevers.

Charles McGowan, the young Canadian who gave testimony favorable to Senator Lorimer before the committee and was charged by private detectives with having perjured himself and having been paid for it by C. F. Wiehe, continued as a witness.

McGowan's testimony was hurried, as the committee has instructed attorneys for both sides that the taking of testimony be expedited and the hearings closed.

Dr. J. P. Jupp of Toronto, Ont., was called to testify that McGowan was not in the room with the detectives at the hour they swore he admitted having received money for "perjuring" himself.

John McGowan, father of young McGowan, told of Detective William J. Burns asking him to come to Toronto to talk about his son's testimony. After promising to go, McGowan said he decided not to.

C. F. Wiehe, secretary of the Edward Hines Lumber company, told of his dealings with young McGowan. He said he knew subpoena could not bring McGowan from Canada to Washington and it seemed reasonable to pay him for his actual losses.

THE PEOPLE OF YPSILANTI CANNOT AFFORD TO GRANT ANY GAS COMPANY ANY FRANCHISE IT WILL ACCEPT.

"THAT TWENTY-FIVE BILLION DOLLAR CORPORATION."

(Contiued)

Mr. Cook in his article in McClure's Continues:

"The plan is financially feasible. I admit that if it would not transfer the control from Wall Street the plan would be fatally defective, because the country will not longer tolerate that control. There are various practical ways of preserving the disinterestedness of such a holding company and its board of directors. In Europe this problem has been worked out successfully in different ways. For instance, in the Bank of England the right of voting for directors is limited to stockholders who have owned for six months at least five hundred pounds of the bank stock. Each stockholder has but one vote. No proxies are allowed.

"If the charter of the proposed railroad holding company for the United States named the first twenty-five directors—men of character, chosen from different parts of the country—and gave them power to elect their successors, subject to the approval of the President of the United States, in case of death, resignation, or removal for cause, Wall Street would get its proper representation and no more. It would not dominate. If further check were desired, the election of directors might require the approval of the United States Senate as well as that of thePresident. If that safeguard against the capitalistic control be doubted, the 'recall' of directors by vote of the stockholders would be a modern remedy. Public sentiment is an all-powerful factor in America, and would not tolerate Wall Street dictation or the election of Wall Street dummies. The power of the directors would be so great that the public would demand that they be above suspicion. And there would be nothing to fear from that power.

"Power leads to responsibility, and responsibility leads to conservatism. Public sentiment would insist that the personnel of the directors should represent the finest judgement and honor of the country—just such a personnel as Great Britain insists on for the management of the Bank of England. A striking precedent is found in the provision in the proposed Act of Congress for the incorporation of the 'Rockefeller Foundation.'

"The cardinol principal underlying this plan is that the future control of the railroads of America should be in the hands of the choicest men, disinterested, picked men of the nation, representing not alone capital on the one hand nor the voting public alone on the other, but representing all,—the toiling millions as well as the millionaires; labor as well as capital; voters as well as investors,—and administering these vast properties, the arties of trade of the vast Republic, as great national highways."

Mr. Cook admits that "the prejudice against the holding company in America is now very great. The reason is that holding companies have only too often been used to form illegal combinations in restraint of trade. But that is an abuse of the holding company plan. When properly used, it is a lawful and very workable mode of organization. It is the latest, most useful, and highest development of the corporation.

"The Mackay companies—a holding company which has acquired and administered great telegraph and cable companies—has acquired stocks on exactly the plan I have outlined—except, of course, that it has no government guaranty of dividends. I have taken part in the formation and the operation of his holding company from its beginning, and I know intimately the ease, simplicity, and workability of the idea.

"The above plan is presented to meet a great and overwhelming issue which is now disturbing the entire country. It would give the advantages claimed for government ownership; it would insure lower rates, no discrimination, equal facilities, the protection of the small shipper, and the cessation of waste from ruinous competition. It would not impair the efficiency of the present railway staff because the present railroad corporations would be continued, the present officials and employees and mode of selection, promotion, and organization, retained, with no government officials to interfere. Commissions, courts, and legislatures would find a large part of their present occupation gone.

"It would mean the avoidance of a vast national debt and a railroad deficit to be made up by taxation; the preservation of the institution of private ownership of railroad property. It is not socialism; it is not government ownership; it is not even direct governmental control; and it is absolutely practical. It would nationalize railroads without political agitation and without costing the national government a dollar."

"CITY GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION."

The commission government in Des Moines kept within the revenues the very first year, which had not been done by the old administration for years. At the end of its first fiscal year, the commissioners had made a relatively better financial showing by approximately $180,000 than the previous administration had at the close of its last fiscal year, and this in spite of the increased labor cost, as well as in the cost of material, which all cities experienced during this period. And it is generally conceded that the paving materials were distinctly of a better quality and the specifications were more closely complied with under the commission than under the preceding administration, and a larger part of its expenditures was in the department of public works.

Des Moines has over 75 miles of paved streets,—brick, asphalt and creosote blocks,—a larger number in proportion to the population than any other city in the United States. In the matter of public lighting, the commission made a better showing than the preceding administration. Gas and electric service combined during the previous year had cost $66,242.96. During the next there was a saving under the new plan of $5,548.97. In addition seventy-one more lights were in use under the commission than in the year before. Electric arcs, 2,000 candle power, burning all night and every night, 4,000 hours per year, were $95 and $75 per lamp per year under the old administration, but reduced to $65 under the commission. The gas rate was reduced from $22 per year to $17.

The total cost of caring for the dumps was exactly the same under one administration as the other. But under the commission form of government, 57,159 loads of refuse were received as against 44,637 by the previous administration. The average cost of cleaning cess-basins was lowered from $1.40 to $1.05. The wages of men and teams were increased from $3.50 to $4.50 per day and those of day laborers from $2 to $2.25.

The planning of a civic center and the improvement of the river banks connected with it was the most striking improvement made by the commission. These are so planned that there will be a grouping of public buildings in two blocks on each side of the river. The public library, new federal building and coliseum stand on one side, the city hall on the opposite side of the river. The commission is now planting both river banks, thus making a beautiful civic center in a naturally beautiful section, formerly an eye-sore covered with tumbled-down shanties and river debris.

It seems to be the uniform opinion of business men in Des Moines that the streets have been better cleaned and the general tone of the municipal service improved under the commission during its first year. It is significant in this connection to note that, whereas formerly Des Moines was divided into East and West Des Moines, both sides have been united in support of the cimmission.

An examination of their receipts and expenditures shows that the old administration at the close of its fiscal year left a deficit of $119,199.82. At the end of the year the commission had an excess of cash over claims of $104,855.28, a gain during the year of $48,439.03. In other words, instead of running behind during the year $119,199,82 as the previous administration had done, the ran ahead $48,-439.03, thus making a relative saving over the previous administration of $132,549.55. And all the improvements in the Des Moines city government has meant a saving to the tax-payers and the advertising value of municipal government noticeably better than usually prevails is seen in the following statement:

"All the money which the Greater Des Moines Committee could raise in twenty years to advertise Des Moines could not buy the printed space which has been devoted to the city's experiments with its new form of government during the past two years."

MOOSE CROSS LAKE ON ICE

Seen at Keweenaw Point, Mich., After Tramping Superior Ice Field.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 9. — Lake Superior, for the first time in many years, is frozen over from Eagle river to Isle Royale, a distance of forty miles, and it is the belief of residents of Eagle River that the ice field extends clear across the big lake.

Keweenaw Point people report that moose have been seen in the Keweenaw wilds during the last few days and if this is so the animals must have crossed on the ice from Canada, as there have been no moose on Keweenaw point for many years. The winter has been unusually severe, there being no letup in low temperatures since the cold snap set in about the first of the year.

HIS STRATAGEM WAS COSTLY

It Was Designed to Break Him of Cigarette Habit, but Only Left Him Poorer.

Mac Keene is described by Mrs Meyer, our landlady, as being a "stu dium" and "poor as a church mouse." The first appellation is true—he is a student of engineering; the simile is rather baffling, but that he is poor I fear is true also. Mac Keene is a philosopher. Many men of little business, I observe, are philosophers. I became acquainted with Mac Keene when I invited him in one evening to share the warmth from my fire—he having none—and he proved a treasure to me during many long winter evenings. I offered him a smoke, and was instantly attracted to the man by his story of the cunning stratagem he employed to break himself of the habit of smoking to excess.

Mac Keene had devised sundry and divers tricks to accomplish his end, all without success; the latest maneuver against the enemy consisted in his buying the most expensive cigarettes he could find, with the idea in mind that the wanton and profligate extravagance of smoking them up too rapidly would materially reduce his consumption of the weed; then, if the campaign were successful, he would not increase his expense in the long run, but when the habit was more under control he could reduce his expense even below the present by returning to cheaper brands. Such ingenuity as this was deserving of reward, but alas! it failed from the start, and left Mac Keene a poorer and a no more temperate man.—New York Evening Post.

A BALD-HEADED WOMAN

SHORN OF HER CROWN OF BEAUTY, LOSES IN LOVE AND MARRIAGE.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Ypsilanti, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destrop the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contains ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair lossens, loses color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and hair troubles; that it will grow hair even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed, and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over, and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store — Weinmann-Matthews Co., 118 Congress street.

GLASS PAVING A FAILURE

Experiments in France Show the Material Will Not Stand the Traffic in Streets.

Seven or eight years ago a plant was established at La Demi Lune, a suburb about four miles from Lyon, France, for making glass paving material under the name of "pierre de verre Garchey." After many experiments carried out at the factory the manufacturer applied to the Lyon municipality for the right to make a trial on one of the chief thoroughfares. The necessary authorization was granted, provided that the inventor would bear the entire expense of the undertaking.

The place chosen for laying the glass pavement was a section of the Place de la Republique, where traffic of cabs, automobiles and wagons of all kinds is very heavy. The glass bricks remained in place for less than two years and were then taken out as they were in very poor condition, the edges were all broken, and in many cases the blocks were split through and through. The opinion of officials here at that time was to the effect that this glass pavement could be used under favorable circumstances for sidewalks, but not for the middle of streets.—Consular and Trade Reports.

Spice of Life.

One way of ironing out domestic difficulties was originated by the late Vaughan Kester, author of "The Prodigal Judge." He was living at Gunston, an old colonial estate on the Potomac, not far from Mount Vernon, with his wife, an aunt of Paul Wilstach, who made the dramatic version of "Thais," when he drafted the constitution and by-laws of the Mutual Help association, retails the New York Sun, in mentioning the incident.

"Everybody's business but my own," was the motto of the association. Under the head, "Declaration of Purpose," appeared this paragraph:

"The members of this association, recognizing that there are realms of indecision and irresolution difficult for the single mind to grasp, penetrate and fully explore, have formed an association for the specific purpose that the individual members may have the advantage of every other member's opinion on all conceivable questions affecting his or her personal welfare, believing that by so doing they will add the variety which is the spice of life."

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A FEW APPLICATIONS OF A SIMPLE REMEDY WILL BRING BACK THE NATURAL COLOR.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people who have perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair–restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old–fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

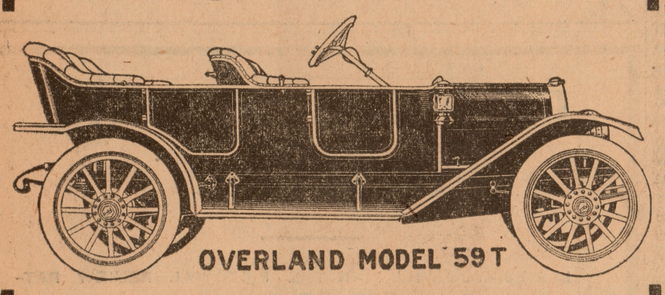
Overland



OVERLAND MODEL 59 T

This car is a real automobile—not a little frail cramped machine but a good big roomy car that has ample room for five passengers. The motor is the famous Overland type—4x4½—and will develop greater speed that any other of a similar rating. As a matter of fact it has more power and speed than you will probably ever want to use.

It is made with the fashionable fore-doors with door handles inside and center control. And what is more it is built right—having the strength of cars that cost twice the price. For instance, the gussett plates used on the rear springs have a factor of safety for 500% more strain than they will ever be required to undergo.

The car is beautifully finished. The upholstering work is of the very best leather and selected hair goods. All trimmings are of the finest materials than can be had.

This new model from every possible comparative standpoint is the greatest value for the money that has ever been placed on the market.

Call and inspect this car at once.

WHY COLDS LEAD TO PNEUMONIA

When a cold is neglected it attacks the lining of the lungs—then it's pneumonia. Father John's Medicine cures colds and prevents pneumonia because it nourishes the system and drives out the poisonous waste matter—any other way of treating a cold is likely to lead to pneumonia. Not a "cough syrup" depending upon dangerous and weakening drugs, but a food medicine and body builder.
